INTRODUCTION

The Canadian Directory of Awards for Graduate Study, published by the Association of Universities and Colleges of Canada, is designed to provide current information to Canadian graduate students looking for sources of financial aid. This is the twelfth edition of this directory last published by AUCC in 1981.

The directory is divided into two sections: one describing awards in English, the other describing awards in French. Awards are listed in English and/or French depending upon where they are tenable.

1) If tenable only at an English-language institution, the award is described in English only.

2) If tenable only at a French-language institution, the award is listed in that language only.

3) If tenable at both French and English-language institutions, or at an institution that uses a language other than French or English, the entry appears in both languages.

With this edition, the bilingual directory has been completely reorganized and is now divided into nine field of study chapters. Within each chapter general awards appear first with specific subjects following in alphabetical order. Subject indexes, as well as a new index listing individual awards by name, appear in both English and French to enable students to refer easily to those awards that will be of particular interest.

Whenever it is known that an award is available exclusively to Canadians, a comment to this effect has been made in the Conditions section of the entry. Where the field of study in the entry is described as "Unrestricted", the award may be held in any subject in which the relevant university or universities provide the appropriate program. Where possible, distinction has been made between an academic year (normally eight months) and a calender year. Conditions are summarized in one short paragraph and students are advised to address enquiries to the contact indicated in the text. The deadline for receipt of applications, given where it is known, is the date by which completed application forms, transcripts of marks and all other supporting documents must be in the hands of those administering the award. It is advisable that initial contact be made as early as possible prior to the final deadline to allow for the exchange of correspondence and for the collection and forwarding of necessary material.

In addition to notices of awards that come regularly to the attention of the AUCC Secretariat, detailed questionnaires were sent to Canadian universities, to the federal and provincial governments and to private organizations and companies in Canada and abroad requesting information on the scholarships and fellowships they offer or administer. Nevertheless some awards may not have been included in this edition of Canadian Directory of Awards for Graduate Study and it would be appreciated if these could be brought to the attention of the AUCC. Any comments or suggestions should be directed to Julia Hill-Downham, Communications Division, AUCC, 151 Slater Street, Ottawa, Ontario, Canada, K1P 5N1. The Association extends its thanks to all those whose assistance and contributions made this directory possible.

INTRODUCTION

Le Répertoire canadien des bourses d'études supérieures, publié par l'Association des Universités et Collèges du Canada, a pour objet de fournir des renseignements à jour aux étudiants canadiens de deuxième et troisième cycles qui cherchent des sources d'aide financière. C'est la dixième édition du répertoire, que l'AUCC a publié pour la dernière fois en 1981.

La publication se divise en deux sections, l'une pour la description des bourses en anglais, l'autre pour la description des bourses en français. Les bourses sont décrites dans une langue ou l'autre selon l'endroit où elles sont valables.

1) Celles qui ne sont valables que dans un établissement anglophone ne sont décrites qu'en anglais.

2) Celles qui ne sont valables que dans un établissement francophone ne sont décrites qu'en français.

3) Si elles sont valables à la fois dans des établissements anglophones et francophones ou dans lesquels on utilise une langue autre que le français et l'anglais, elles sont inscrites dans les deux langues.

Le répertoire a été complètement remanié et la présente édition comporte neuf chapitres, en fonction des domaines d'étude. Dans chacun, les bourses générales apparaissent en premier et les domaines suivent en ordre alphabétique. Les index des domaines d'étude, ainsi qu'un nouvel index des bourses par nom, sont bilingues, afin que les étudiants puissent trouver facilement les bourses susceptibles de les intéresser.

Lorsque nous savons qu'une bourse est réservée aux Canadiens, nous en faisons mention à la rubrique "Conditions". Si aucune restriction ne s'attache au domaine d'étude, la bourse est valable pour toute matière offerte par l'université ou les universités compétentes. Nous avons établi chaque fois que c'était possible la distinction entre l'année universitaire (habituellement de huit mois) et l'année civile. Les conditions sont résumées en un bref paragraphe et nous conseillons aux étudiants d'adresser leurs demandes de renseignements à l'agent de liaison mentionné dans le texte. La date limite de réception des demandes, que nous mentionnons chaque fois qu'elle nous est fournie, est celle à laquelle les demandes d'inscription remplies, les relevés de notes et autres pièces justificatives doivent être entre les mains des administrateurs de la bourse. Il est recommandé de prendre contact le plus longtemps possible avant la date limite afin d'avoir suffisamment de temps pour correspondre et pour rassembler et expédier les pièces nécessaires.

Des annonces de bourses parviennent régulièrement au Secrétariat de l'AUCC mais nous avons aussi adressé des questionnaires détaillés aux universités canadiennes, aux gouvernements fédéral et provinciaux et à des organismes et entreprises du secteur privé, au Canada et à l'étranger, pour nous renseigner sur les bourses qu'ils offrent ou administrent. Il se peut néanmoins que certaines bourses ne figurent pas dans le présent Répertoire canadien des bourses d'études supérieures et nous aimerions qu'on le signale à l'AUCC. Toute observation ou suggestion devrait être adressée à Mme Julia Hill-Downham, Division des communications, AUCC, 151, rue Slater, Ottawa (Ontario) Canada, K1P 5N1. L'Association remercie tous ceux qui ont contribué de quelque façon que ce soit à la publication du présent répertoire.
